AMS Planning and Research (AMS)

With offices in Petaluma, California, Fairfield, Connecticut, and St. Louis, Missouri, AMS Planning & Research is the only national arts management consulting firm. Our mission is to support the development and operation of successful arts and entertainment ventures by providing superior analysis and interpretation of industry practices and trends, and acting in partnership with our clients, to develop innovative and effective business strategies. AMS believes arts and entertainment enhance people's daily lives and the communities in which they live.

AMS has been involved in hundreds of arts facility development and operating plans since its founding in 1988. These include operating and strategic plans for major performing arts organizations such as the Orange County Performing Arts Center in California, City of Phoenix Theater Management Division, Columbus Association for the Performing Arts (CAPA) in Ohio, Lincoln Center in New York City, and we are currently advising arts organizations that will be moving to the new World Trade Center site. AMS also maintains a comprehensive ongoing analysis of the operational performance of twenty-five major Performing Arts Centers across the United States and Canada.
