

HCI Media

Wednesday, 22 June 2005

HCI Media

Guido Hamacher has over 15 years experience in engineering and computer science. His background includes leading the development of a Computer Aided Design program during his time as lead programmer at the FH Düsseldorf. He later developed a quantity mass survey program for a landscape design firm and a computer setup for automated manufacturing on tooling machines.

Guido Hamacher received a degree in Mechanical Engineering from FH Düsseldorf and a degree in Computer Engineering from FH Wiesbaden.

Mr. Hamacher started HCI-Media while working as Quality Assurance Engineer for a successful internet start-up company in San Diego. HCI-Media specializes in consulting for internet marketing, website design and implementation, as well as CD production and marketing materials.

On the web at: www.hci-media.com .